

Light Ray Patterns

The louveres on each segmented panel have a gradually changing profile. They are lit up by a side light trough at a calculated angle. This results in the play of light and shade by creating a motion flow as seen from one point to another. It breathes life into the sinuous curve, The rays of light from each segmented panel criss-crossed on the floor like a multi-faceted diamond.