Troy Smith A Material Man

Troy Smith epitomizes the definition of a modern day Renaissance man. His singular furniture creations are garnering international attention from notable galleries, as well as individuals who covet and curate innovative, timeless design. He travels extensively to the foremost international design and fashion capitals, and regularly visits world famous museums, galleries and architectural landmarks to explore and experience emerging trends, and iconic creations in art and design. These influences, in addition to his life experiences, are a constant source of inspiration and are apparent in his many stunning pieces, as well as his abstract acrylic paintings.

Troy is constantly exploring new expressions for his creativity. His original, one-of-kind and limited edition pieces are a rare and remarkable fusion of enduring and evocative materials. By imaginatively integrating elements such as textured rebar, ingenious light-shifting glass, exotic woods and luxurious leather, in unexpected ways, he has elevated rebar to an art form, fashioned bespoke pieces with Crazy Glass and created the grand dame of sofas, the Flute Sofa.

Troy's passion for all things beautiful ensures each piece is the embodiment of extraordinary inspiration, meticulous craftsmanship and quintessential beauty.

THE REBAR COLLECTION

Troy is continuously experimenting with new design concepts, materials, techniques and structures, in his pursuit to create new and sublime art forms.

Troy's inspiration for developing his Rebar collection came from working alongside his father as a young protégé in the family home building business. He was fascinated by the industrial materials used on the job and re-imagined their purpose in the form of furniture as art. His creativity has given new expression and functionality to this basic building material through his evocative designs.

In his signature Rebar collection, the rebar is heated with acetylene torches and red-hot furnaces, skillfully sculpted with pneumatic machines, then powder coated or electroplated. During assemblage the rebar is integrated with other high-end design elements, such as marble, exotic woods, leathers, and custom glass, taking care to ensure the integrity and interpretation of the original design.

ONE OF A KIND

Each of Troy's pieces is an inspiration, born from creativity, exhaustive research and planning, and often mind-bending engineering techniques. He is intimately involved and hands-on throughout the evolution of each piece to achieve the realization of his vision.

Troy's creative process begins with hand-drawn conceptual sketches, which are transferred to graph paper and rendered in 3D to refine the form, function and intricacies of each design. Once transformed into professional shop drawings, the fabrication process commences.

Every piece Troy creates fulfills his mantra that you can't just create art, you must give life. It's why his art has been featured in international design shows and prestigious exhibitions, and lifestyle magazines. Curators, designers and private clients may commission one-of-a-kind pieces.

Troy's furniture has been referred to as avant-garde, visionary and classic. There is intrinsic power in its simplicity, clean lines and fluidity, which is why his exquisite, timeless statement pieces are destined to become valued heirlooms.
