

LOUI PARIS Private Townhouse

by Holzrausch

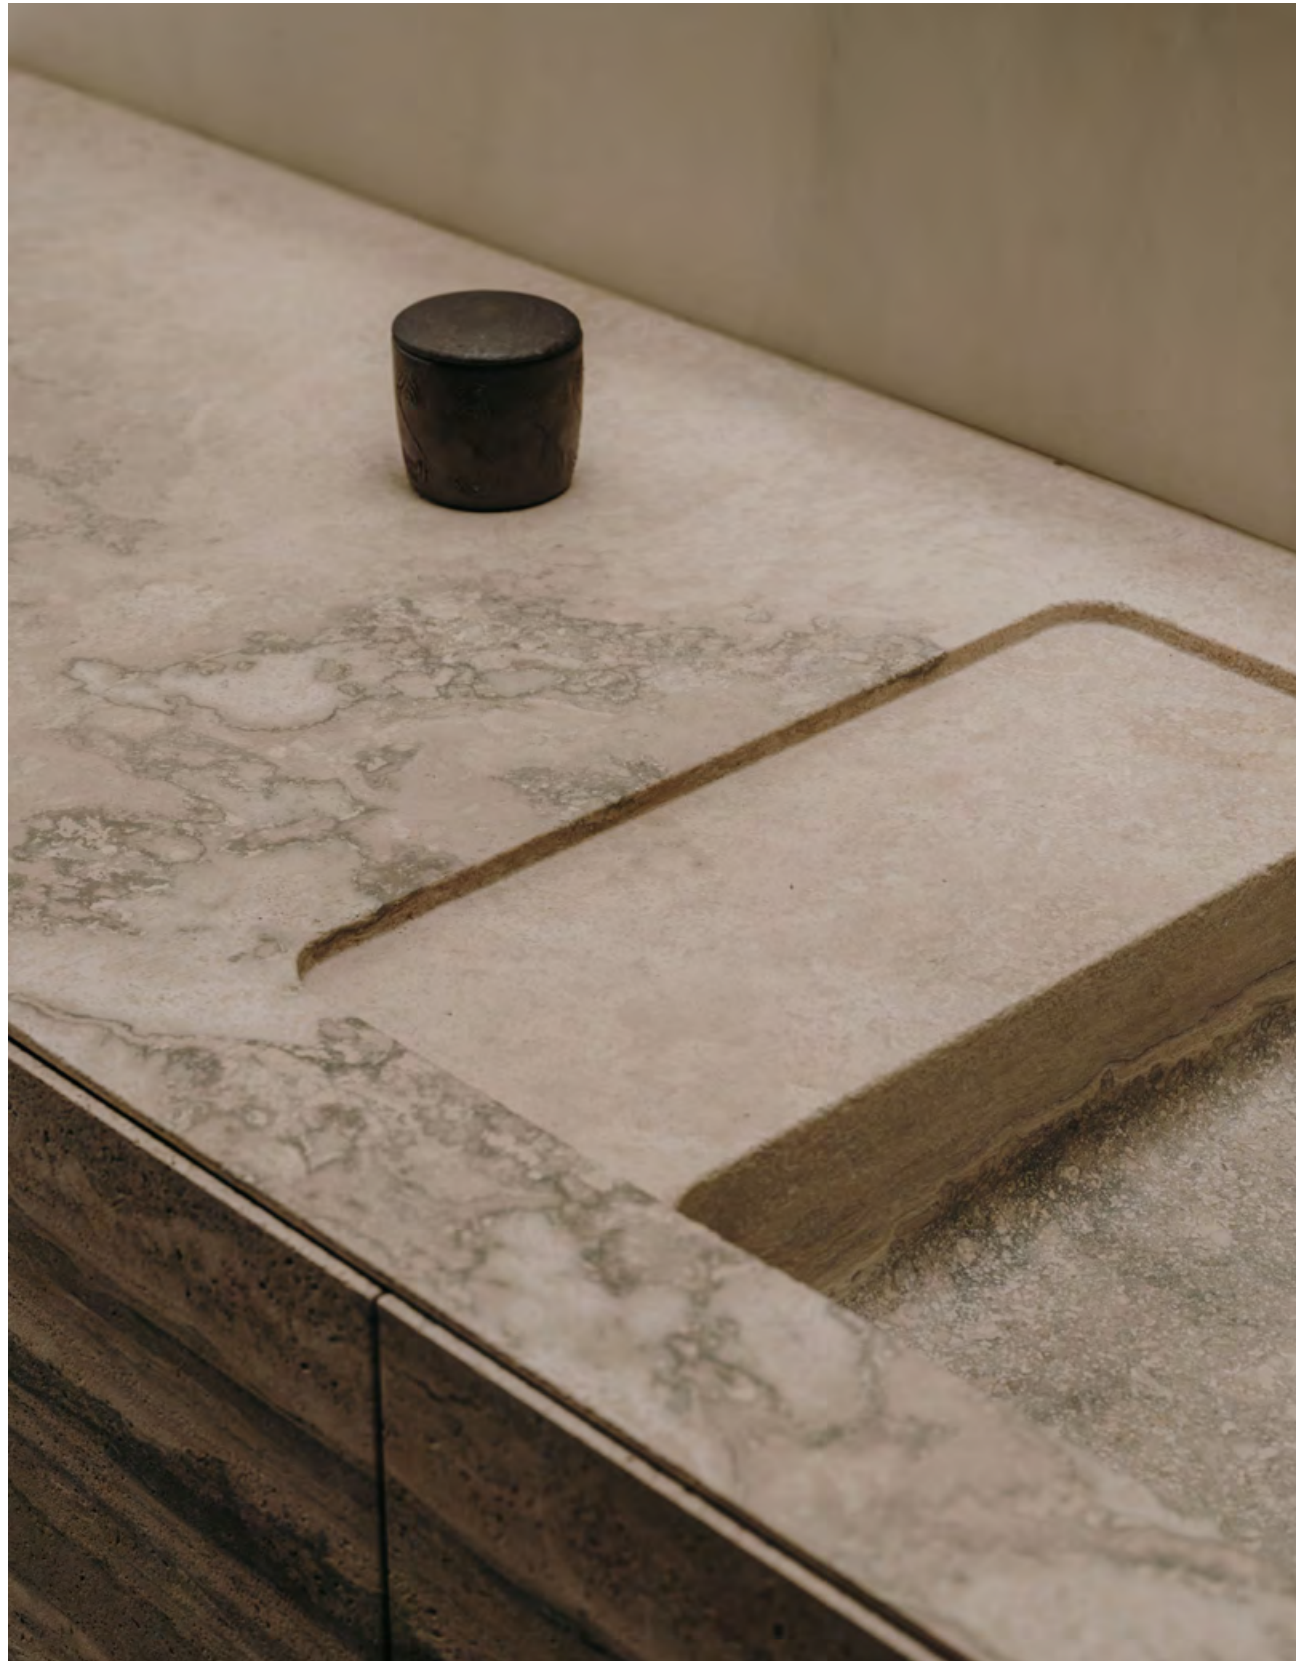

Behind a closed gate and past a long courtyard, this hidden family house with a garden offers an oasis of peace in Paris's 11th arrondissement.

Defined by stainless steel surfaces and Gaggenau appliances, the kitchen reflects the simple material palette of oak, plaster, stone, and steel.

The bathroom is made of Vaselli stone, emphasizing natural texture and craftsmanship.

No decorative elements, no art — nothing to disturb the calmness of the interior. Plastered walls and soft daylight create an atmosphere of clarity and calm.

The ceiling was opened for the oak staircase that brings natural light into all levels and forms the spine of the house.

The bedroom uses a light fixture from ONE A.
Built-in storage offers a clean, minimalist look.

GROUND FLOOR

I

Dining Area

II

Kitchen

III

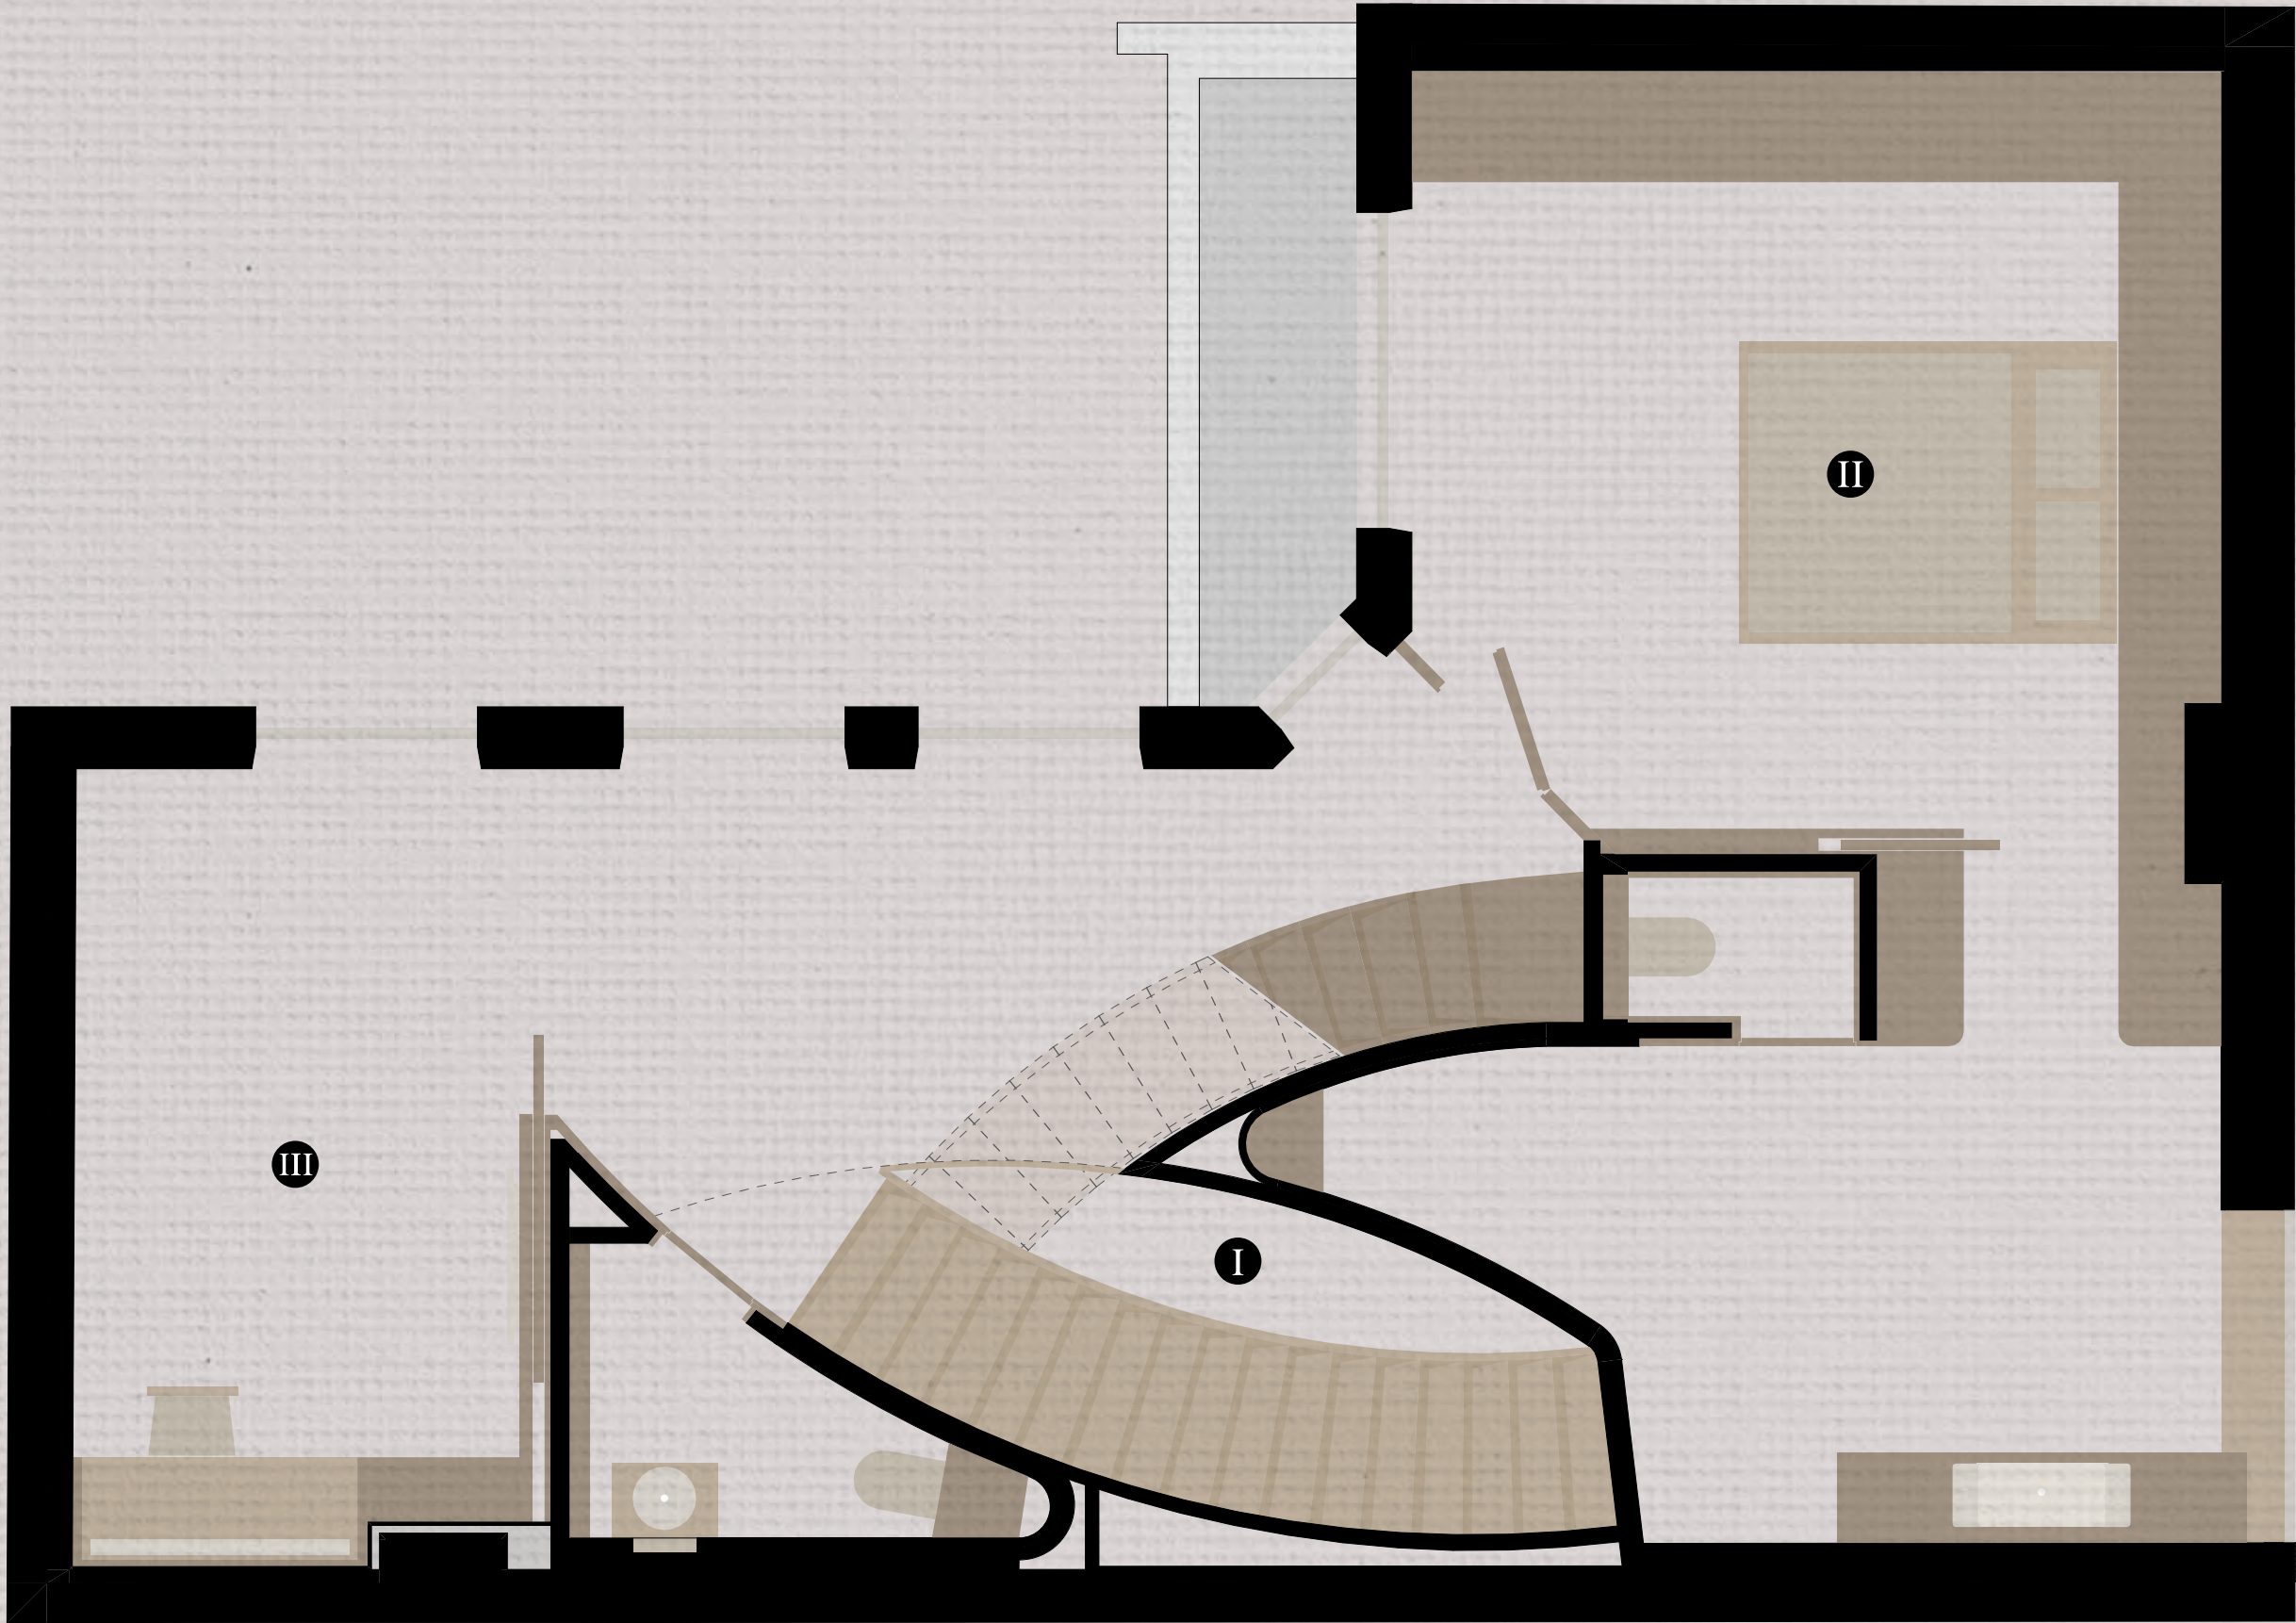

Living Room

IV

Courtyard Garden

V

Sculptural Staircase

FIRST FLOOR

I

Sculptural Staircase

II

Sleeping Room

III

Bathroom

SECOND FLOOR

I

Sculptural Staircase

II

Sleeping Room

III

Terrace

