Diagram

100' x 100'

The natural configuration of the site offers a 100 ft by 100 ft clearing bathed with delicate natural light and topped by a canopy of tall white pines.

insertion of courtyards

The insertion of courtyards into the 100 ft by 100 ft basic form derived from the site's particularities, defines the interior geometry of the house and acts as buffers to the open surroundings.

artificial landscape

Playing with the topography of the ground floor and the ceiling generates an artificial landscape which enriches the spatial experience of a single floor house. Opening up several skylights also modulates the various spatial experiences of the house.

Closing up all sides of the courtyards at the roof level, redefines the perfect square and generates introversion while also bringing the automobile inside the house.
