The Agape Outdoor Collection.

Milan, March 2022 - Agape expands its architectural vocabulary and opens the door to countless possibilities for interaction and dialogue between objects in the home. Iconic pieces of past and present, created by Master of Design and architecture to coexist harmoniously. Washbasins, faucets, tubs, accessories. Agape's new Outdoor Collection expands the boundaries of the bathroom outside, where the blue sky, rustling trees and stimulating urban backdrop become the natural and ideal complement to the Agape experience. The conversation is open, and the connections come naturally. This is a vision of bathroom design as an architecture of the senses, complete in itself and always evolving. Good design is the unseen score of this symphony. Here materials, functions and emotions are fine-tuned in an ever-changing ensemble, following a process of lateral thinking that results in timeless works of design.

Iconic pieces of past and present span the decades and carve out new and unexpected spaces in the home, thanks to strong design and innovative materials.

It's a throwback for the Bjhon family of washbasins, created in 1970 by Angelo Mangiarotti as a flowerpot and only later turned into a basin. Thanks to new materials, today this timeless piece rediscovers its home outside the home. The Ufo bathtub and the Carrara washbasin, classics of the Agape catalog, are joined in the Outdoor collection by the new Petra, Amuleto and Open Air, along with icons like the Vieques and Kaa series, the Handwash washbasin and the DR and In-Out bathtubs, all reimagined in materials suitable for harsh climates and resistant to atmospheric agents.

Strong materials and new finishes.

The warm nuances of Cementoskin®, a cementitious material that performs well both indoors and outdoors, bring new colors to the Outdoor collection.

The elegant and resistant Petit Granit marble makes possible an Outdoor version of Angelo Mangiarotti's iconic Bjhon washbasin.

Agape offers Cristalplant®, this time the outdoor white version, and introduces hypoallergenic silicone rubber in bold shades for some of the flexible elements in the collection.

Only high-performance steel for the Outdoor collection: the AISI304 alloy is joined by AISI316L, for absolute resistance even in a nautical environment.
