

Anastassiadis

Under the sensitive leadership of Patricia Anastassiadis, the Anastassiadis studio develops projects that blend sophistication, identity, and a deep respect for context. Operating in Brazil, Europe, and the United States, the studio combines in-depth research, engagement with local culture, and collaboration with artists and craftspeople to create spaces that tell stories and evoke emotion.

Each project begins with attentive listening and immersion in the place—a process that seeks to authentically translate the spirit of the location. The result is timeless, elegant interiors that are deeply connected to their surroundings. More than just designing spaces, the studio creates meaningful and sensorial experiences.

Hotel du Cap-Eden-Roc

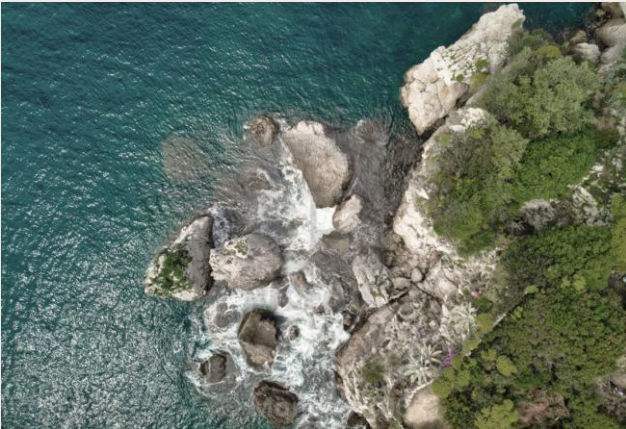

LUXURY HOTELS – INTERIOR DESIGN

HOTEL DU CAP-EDEN-ROC
CAP D'ANTIBES

The Hotel du Cap-Eden-Roc is all about memory and location. The iconic spot in the French Riviera has a rich history of the world's most celebrated artists being inspired by the property's beauty.

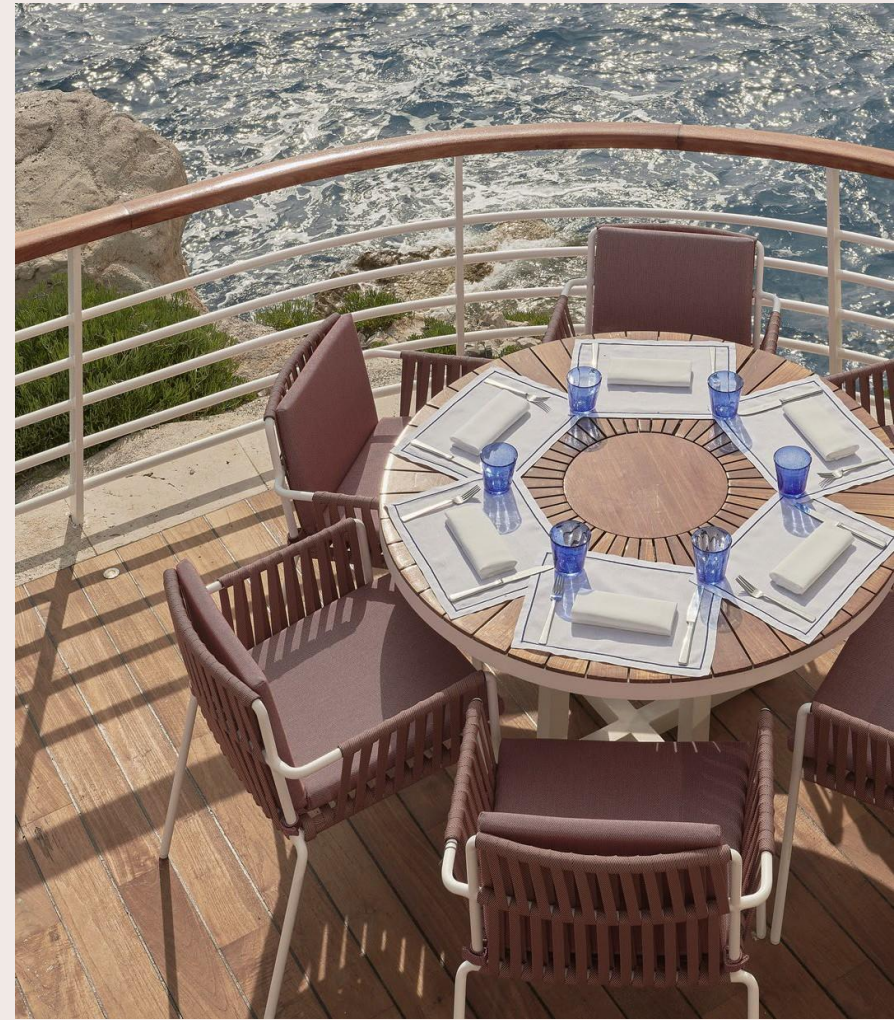

“When the rock meets the sea” was the base inspiration for the color palette in the La Rotonde Bar. The luscious greenery that abruptly ends on a cliff by the ocean were brought into the project. Also, the natural fiber furnitures that ties with the Riviera’s effortless beauty.

The grill and terrace areas were inspired by the original nautical motifs of the Hotel. Our aim was to preserve the identity of the space while interpreting it in a timeless fashion.

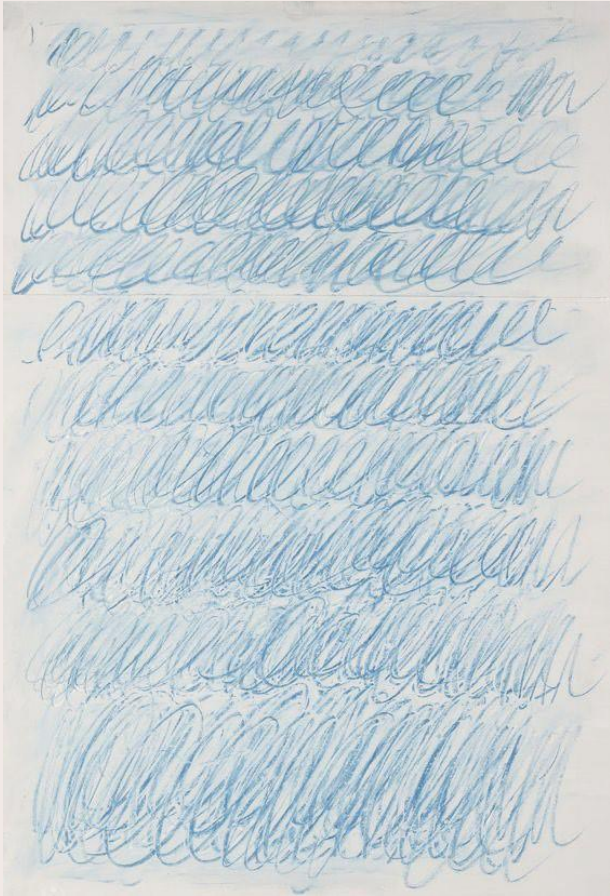

Jumby Bay Island

LUXURY HOTELS - RETROFIT AND INTERIOR DESIGN

Jumby Bay Island

The Caribbean has such a strong identity that our primary instinct was to create a project that could blend with the landscape, while also bringing a contemporary flair. Our main goal was to bring the easygoing energy and breezy feel everywhere we went and also that referenced the rich history of the site.

We chose to work with natural palettes to mimic the outside landscape. We wanted to bring the feeling of always being in touch with the outdoors and to establish a true connection to the place.

Our compositions have many layers to them, and each is an opportunity to create an experience by playing with shape, color and materials.

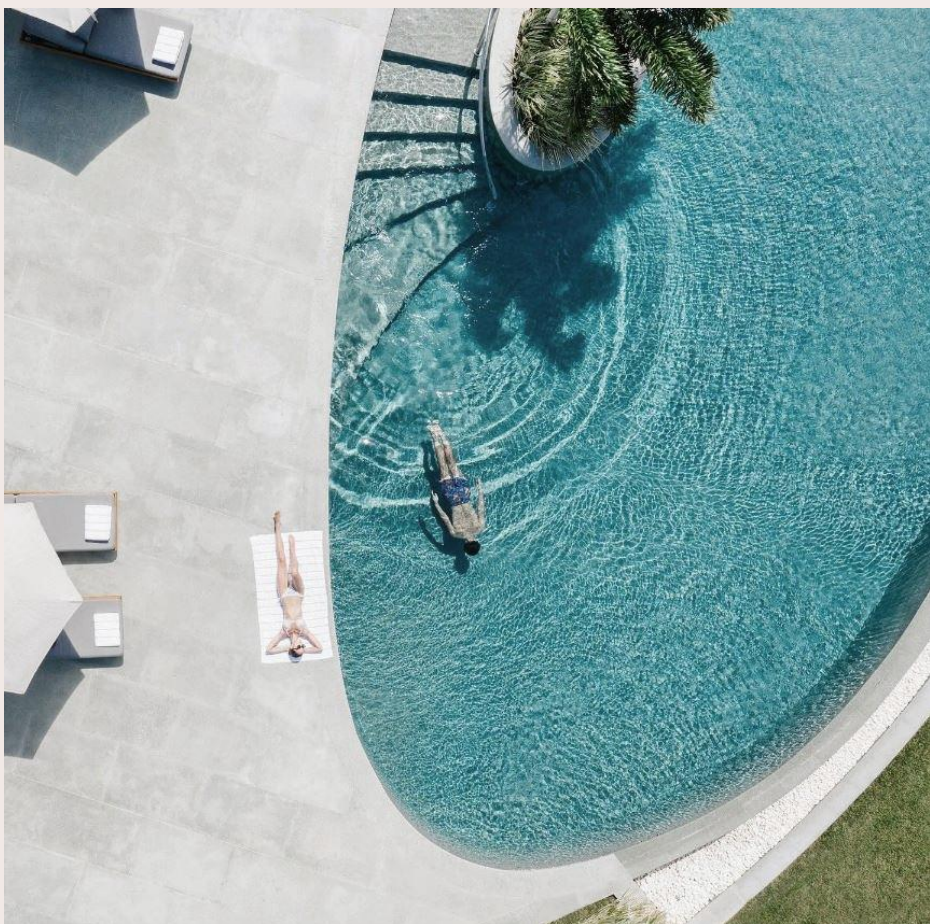

We always search for local culture in order to make something unique, so we chose to use elements that not only brought this rich history to the project but also praised the local heritage.

Rio has a very iconic history of joy and easygoing energy. For the Fairmont project, we chose to work with color schemes that represented Rio's golden age in the 50's and 60's.

We chose to use as many natural materials as possible, such as wood, linen, or stone so as to bring out a more relaxed and also classic Rio mood to the hotel.

Palácio Tangará

LUXURY HOTELS - INTERIOR DESIGN

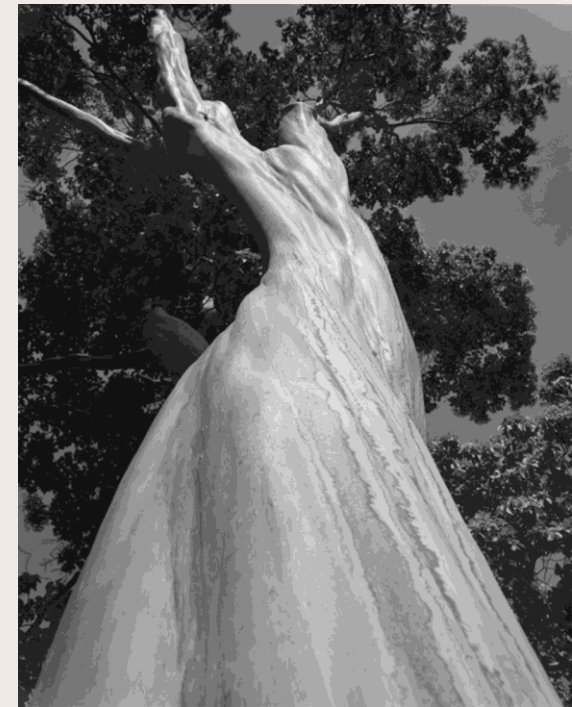

OETKER COLLECTION

Palácio Tangará, in Sao Paulo, tells the history of Brazil in its elements, colors and materials, a country rich in nature and history.

The base inspiration for Palácio Tangará were the famous Jean-Baptiste Debret watercolors depicting the brazilian landscape. The shades of green and earth tones intertwining with the sinuous topography were an endless source of stimuli.

The Burle Bar was inspired by the rich forests in Brazil and the abundant natural resources the land has to offer. The pops of blue are an homage to the Tangará bird, that has vibrant color feathers. The bar also has an incredible display of pictures by famous brazilian photographers.

The Sisley Spa area was heavily influenced by the curves of brazilian modernism, but interpreted with a contemporary feel, also along with the SisleyDNA.

Tangará Jean-Georges

LUXURY HOTELS - INTERIOR DESIGN

For one of the world's most iconic contemporary chefs, we chose to work with elements that combined the classic French DNA with a brazilian twist, bringing local ceramic elements and a color palette that would mimic the incredible park around the property.

Most of the furniture and design elements were especially designed for the restaurant, such as the Jean-Georges Sofa and the Kintsugi dining table

For this special project in Miami, we took inspirations from two main sources: the organic shapes and movement of the water and the timeless glamour of the seaside lifestyle.

Hilton Barra / Rio de Janeiro

HILTON

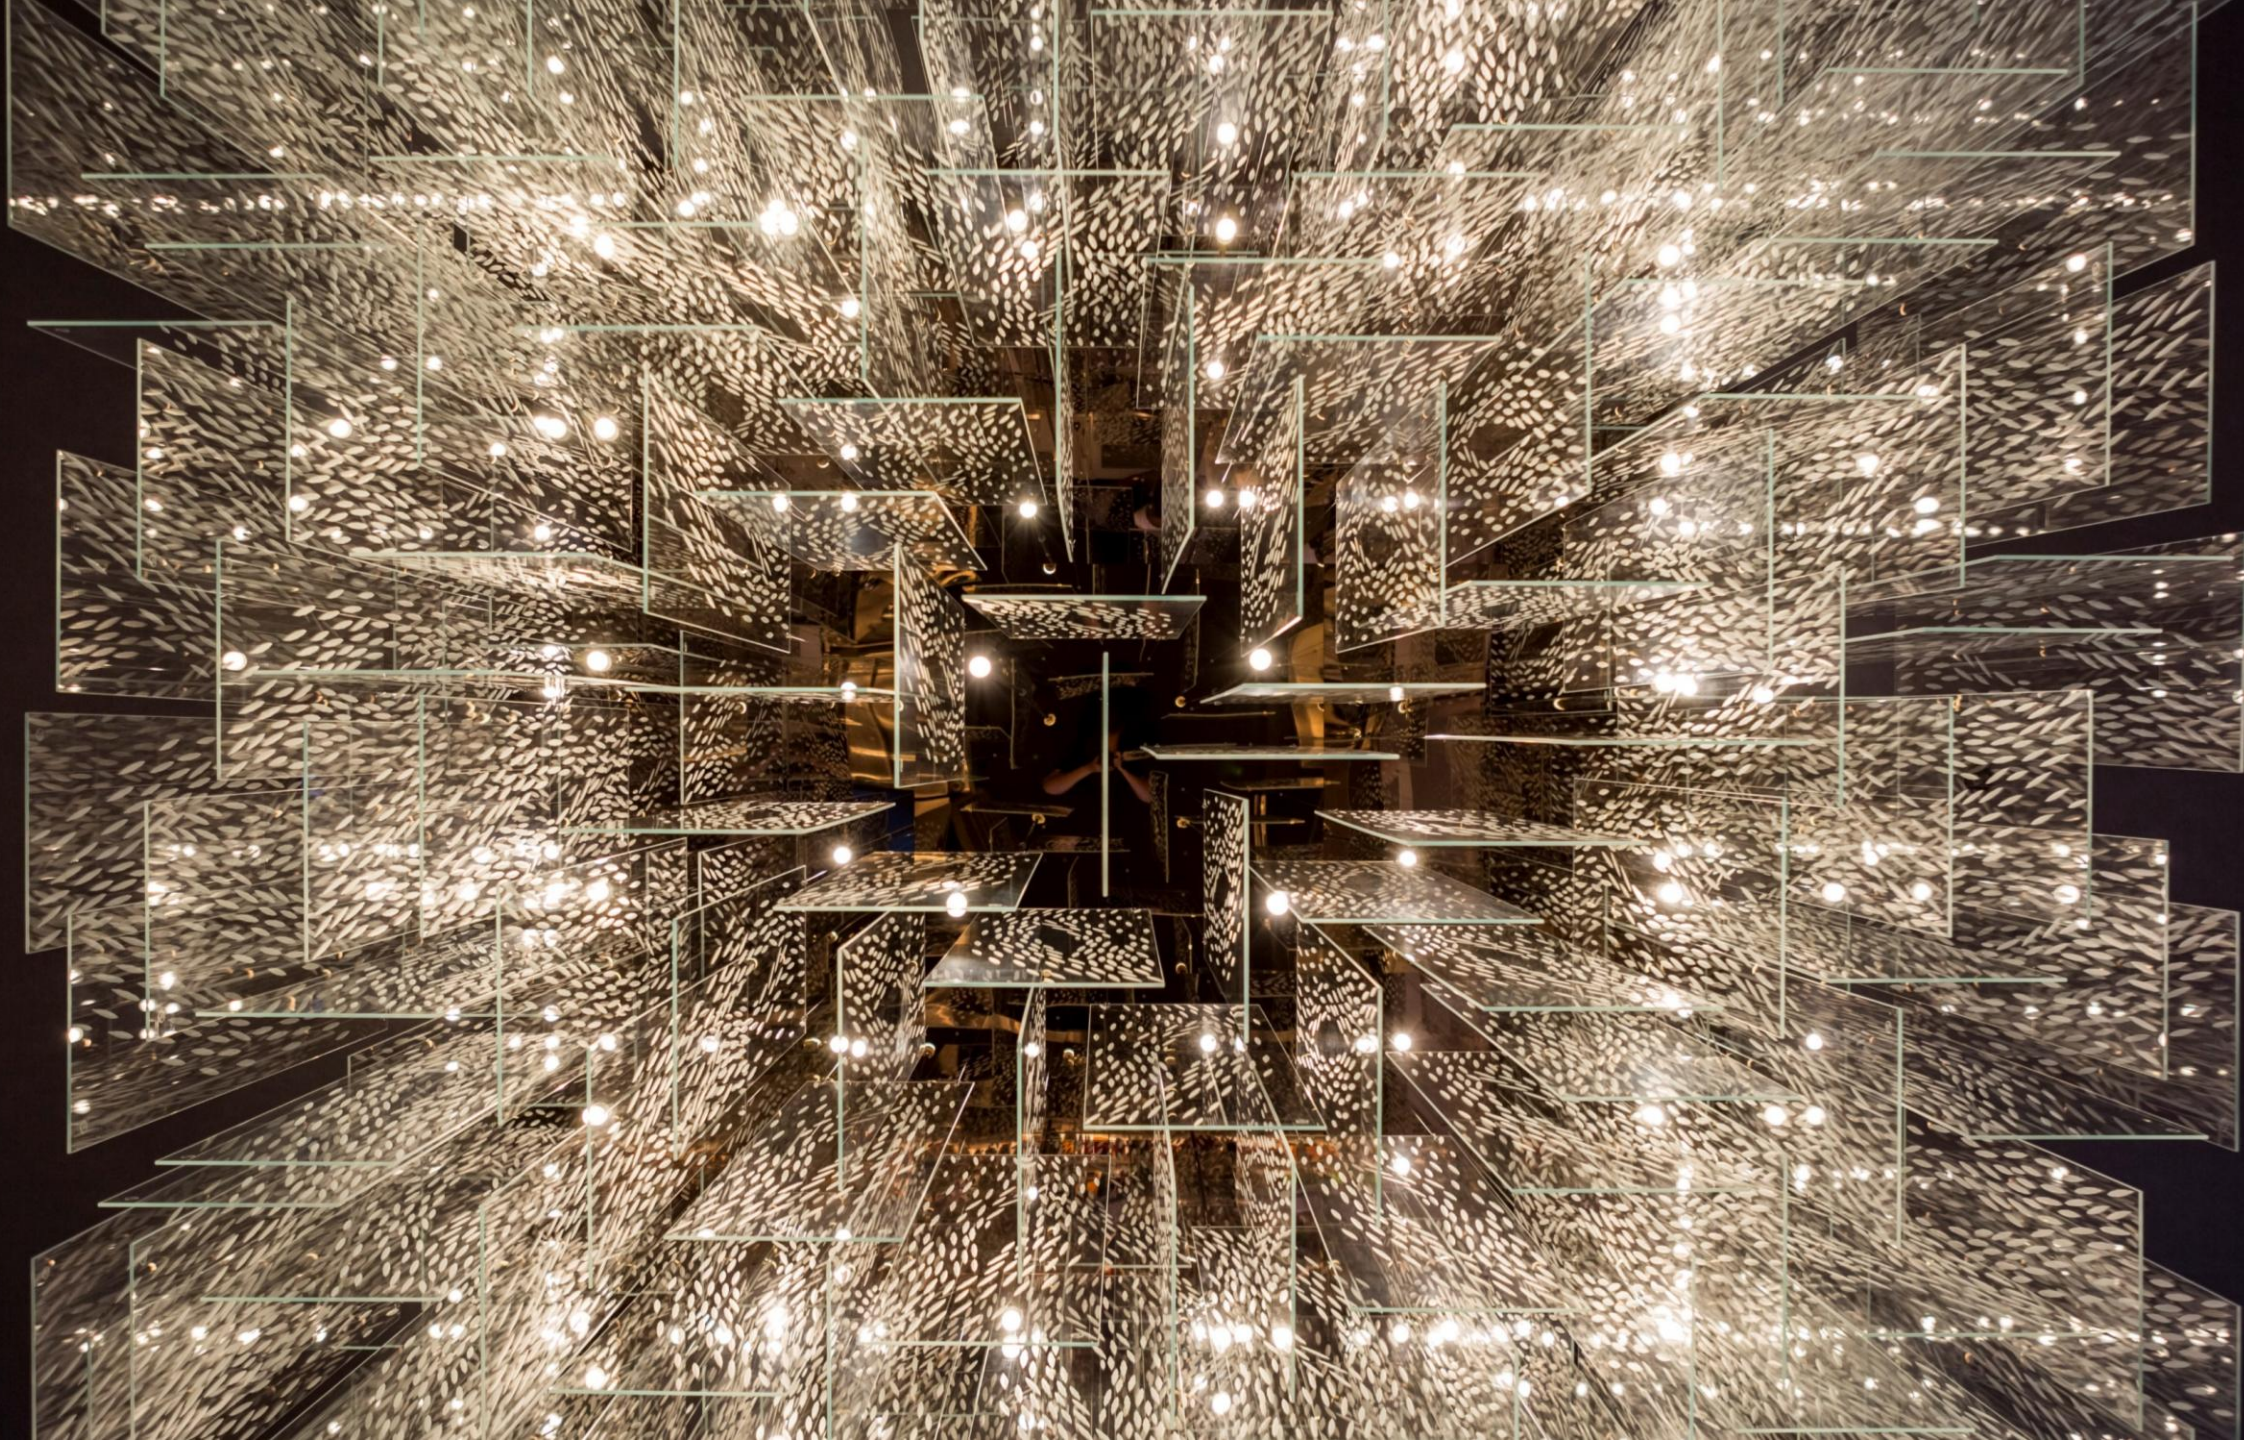

For the Hilton Barra project in Rio de Janeiro, we looked for inspiration in the spirit of the city: the light ocean breeze, the casual atmosphere and natural palettes and materials mixed with contemporary art create a unique experience.

We chose to use as many natural materials as possible, so we could bring nature's breeze inside this wonderful project. By working with stone, wood and natural fabrics, the environment became relaxed and effortless.

We strived to choose furniture and pieces mainly by Brazilian designers and artists so we could really bring in our culture's DNA to the project.
