Love Chair & Love Side Table
by Sami Savatlı

FROM SKETCH TO CAST

Studies of form, structure and material trace LOVE's language of branching and reconnecting lines, with proportion, surface and structure developing together across the chair and side table as parts of the same formal vocabulary.

THE COLLECTION

LOVE brings together a chair and side table conceived at the intersection of collectible design and sculpture. Fluid forms extend, branch and reconnect across both pieces, creating a shared structural language in which function and expression become inseparable, while each object retains a distinct presence within space.

LOVE Chair

In the LOVE Chair, the outline of a heart emerges naturally from the structure rather than appearing as an applied motif. Cast in aluminium and individually finished by hand, its continuous frame moves between line and volume, while subtle variations in surface and texture give each piece its own material character.

LOVE Side Table

The LOVE Side Table translates the same fluid structural language into a more compact form. Branching aluminium elements extend and reconnect beneath the circular surface, creating a sculptural silhouette that shifts with perspective. Individually finished by hand, each piece retains subtle variations in surface and texture.

SAMI SAVATLI

Istanbul-based designer Sami Savatlı works across interiors, objects and collectible design, developing a practice shaped by material, form and spatial experience. His approach moves between functional design and sculptural expression, with an emphasis on objects that establish a distinct relationship with their surroundings. With LOVE, Savatlı extends this language into a family of furniture conceived to function as objects while holding an independent sculptural presence.
